A: Broken shed vodka is proudly distilled, crafted, blended and bottled in NZ.

Q: When was Broken Shed Vodka first made?

A: Broken Shed Vodka was first introduced in New Zealand around 2009.

Q: Is it sold in New Zealand?

A: Yes it is sold in New Zealand in retail outlets and Duty Free.

Broken Shed Vodka FAQ

Q: What is Whey?

A: Whey is the protein, milk sugar rich liquid that remains after you make cheese and yogurt. New Zealand is renowned for their dairy industry. The process to distill whey was imported to NZ from Ireland and they still use special yeasts from Ireland in the process.

Q: What animal does whey come from?

A: New Zealand dairy cows.

Q: Are all vodkas gluten free?

A: While distillation should remove glutens, we are naturally gluten free to start and remain that way. Some people with sensitivities need to use naturally gluten free products.

Broken Shed Vodka FAQ

Q: Is this vegan?

A1: Not for the strictest of vegans who will not consume products like honey, some other vodkas add glycerin which can come from animals. We pride ourselves on our clean, sustainable non GMO ingredients.

A2: No, but I promise no cows were harmed in the process!

Q: Is Broken Shed Vodka lactose free?

A: The distillation process converts the lactose sugar to alcohol so it should be acceptable for most people, however it is important to check with your doctor if you have a severe allergy to dairy or lactose. In testing there are only trace amounts.

Q: Is this organic?

A: We don't know what the cows eat when they are grazing, so we cannot call it organic. We do know it is non GMO as New Zealand does not allow genetically modified crops, produce or animals.

Broken Shed Vodka FAQ

Q: What size bottles does Broken Shed come in?

A: Broken Shed is available in 750ML, liter and our new 1.75L

Q: Does Broken Shed Vodka come in any flavors?

A: We believe Broken Shed tastes great on its own and that the best, most natural tasting flavorings are those you add yourself, like the orange zest we infused your sample with.

Q: What is the best way to serve it?

A: Any way you like it! Its clean taste is perfect in a martini, great with infusions, showcases simple cocktails with quality ingredients, lovely over ice with a peel of orange...

Broken Shed Vodka will enhance any cocktail you make with it.
