Our inaugural Straight Bourbon Whiskey, Uncle Nearest 1856 is an award-winning blend, bottled at 100-proof. It is remarkably smooth and can be enjoyed neat, on the rocks, or in your favorite whiskey cocktail. This legacy-era bottle contains whiskey from our own barrels – distilled, aged, and bottled in middle Tennessee – and we couldn't be more proud to share it with you.

The brand, honoring the first known African-American master distiller, launched in 2017 and swiftly rolled out to all 50 states throughout the U.S. and internationally. Our whiskeys are curated by fifth-generation Nearest Green descendant and our Master Blender, Victoria Eady Butler, a four-time Master Blender of the Year.

Nearest Green, affectionately nicknamed Uncle Nearest by his friends and family in Lynchburg, Tennessee, is the world's first known African-American master distiller. He is credited with helping perfect the globally recognized Lincoln County Process, the defining distinction between Kentucky bourbon and Tennessee whiskey. This unique method filters whiskey through sugar maple charcoal and was named after the county where Nearest lived and crafted his highly regarded bourbon.
