TERRAZAS DE LOS ANDES

WINE SPECTATOR 90 PTS RESERVA MALBEC 2023

TERRAZAS DE LOS ANDES RESERVA MALBEC

THE HIGH-ALTITUDE EXPRESSION THAT DEFINES ARGENTINA

Terrazas Reserva Malbec embodies the purity, depth, and vibrancy of Mendoza's most exceptional high-altitude vineyards. Sourced primarily from premium parcels in Luján de Cuyo and the Uco Valley, ranging from 3,500 to 5,000 feet, this Malbec delivers a refined, mountain-born elegance that stands apart in the crowded landscape of Argentine reds and global competitors.

Wine Spectator | SMART BUY 2025

WHAT MAKES TERRAZAS RESERVA MALBEC STAND OUT

1. ANDES ALTITUDE = POWER + FRESHNESS

Our higher-elevation vineyards receive intense sunlight paired with dramatic nighttime cooling. This slows ripening, producing smaller berries, concentrated flavors, pronounced violet aromatics, and a naturally bright acidity, creating a vibrant and layered Malbec.

2. A DISTINCTIVE ALTERNATIVE TO ARGENTINE & FRENCH REDS

Sourced from high-altitude vineyards, Terrazas Reserva Malbec delivers a refined texture, lifted aromatics, and fresh balance that set it apart from heavier Argentine styles, while offering the elegance and age-worthiness of French reds at a far more accessible price point.

3. COMMITMENT TO SUSTAINABILITY

Terrazas de los Andes leads Argentina in sustainable mountain viticulture, using regenerative farming, biodiversity protection, and efficient water management to ensure long-term vineyard health, an attribute increasingly valued by both trade and consumers.

	TERRAZAS RESERVA MALBEC	OTHER ARGENTINE REDS	FRENCH REDS
ORIGIN	High-altitude Andes (3,500–5,000 ft)	Mostly lower elevation, warmer valleys	Bordeaux & Rhône (low-altitude continental/maritime)
CLIMATE ADVANTAGE	Cool nights preserve acidity & aromatics	Warmer: riper, denser, less freshness	Variable; quality/value inconsistent at mid-tier prices
STYLE	Elegant, floral, structured, fresh	Rich, powerful, sometimes rustic	Savory, structured, often more tannic
BUYER BENEFITS	Premium quality + accessible pricing	Strong value but increasingly uniform styles	Heritage styles at rising price points