Vineyards & Winemaking: The town of Lodi sits in the middle of California's vast central valley. Zinfandel vineyards fan out around the town on soils deposited by rivers running from the Sierra Nevadas to the Pacific. The berries are picked, destemmed, crushed and fermented in stainless steel with regular pump overs. After fermentation is complete the wine is matured for 8 months prior to bottling.

Taste: Bright purple in color with expressive red fruit, floral aromas and a touch of spice. The wine is medium to full bodied, weighty and smooth, like a bowling ball on a silk pillow.

Notes: Lodi is one of California's oldest commercial vine growing regions, dating back to the 1850s. Walk through the vineyards today and you will stumble upon thickly twisted 100 year-old vines that pre-date prohibition.
