New Taste Profile: Rich and malty with a pronounced dark chocolate malt character.
The creamy, full mouthfeel carries a burst of roast and bittersweet chocolate.
Delicately bitter, it finishes with a touch of caramel sweetness and coffee-like roast.

St. Benedict of Nursia lived in the late 5th to early 6th centuries. Legend has it while living in solitude, he was befriended by a raven that later saved his life. He is most remembered for writing the Rule of St. Benedict that, among other virtues, teaches humility.
